

How Can You Sleep At Night?

The Ninth Task

Iain Gilmour

Verse 1

Remember at the start of this we told you Herc went mad:
His mum destroyed his sanity, the last marbles he had.
Well Hera was her name you see, and once again we find,
Her evil acts made Hercules go out of his mind.

Chorus

How can you sleep at night?
You do wrong: nothing right.
When we see what you do,
Evil looks just like you.

Verse 2

Hipollyta she wore a belt with weapons hanging down,
Eurytheus he wanted it to show off like a crown.
So Hercules he asked for it and Polly she said sure,
But Hera told the townsfolk that he really wanted war.

Chorus

How can you sleep at night?
You do wrong: nothing right.
When we see what you do,
Evil looks just like you

Verse 3

Hipollyta met Hercules just as they had planned,
But then he saw the tribe advance with weapons in their hands.
So Hercules he drew his sword: Hipollyta was slain,
One more person murdered, and Hera gets the blame.

Chorus

How can you sleep at night?
You do wrong: nothing right.
When we see what you do,
Evil looks just like you.
