

(Sing A Nice Song About) Those Terrible Greeks

Iain Gilmour

Verse 1

We'd like to welcome one and all,
We hope you really have a ball.
Hope our singing's fantastic, our costumes are cool,
The acting's the best that you've seen in a school.
You'll hear a great concert and say that you're glad that you came.
There's just one thing: a little snag,
The Greeks were really, really bad.
They loved killings and murders and battles with beasts,
They argued and shouted then guzzled at feasts,
So how can we make this a suitable show for us kids?

Chorus

We'll just sing a nice song about those terrible Greeks,
We'll smile as we tell of their hideous feats.
We better say sorry in case we offend,
But the fact is a lot met a bloodthirsty end.
We don't want to censor, we know that is wrong,
So we'll soften the blow with a delicate song,
And hope that our voices will help to disguise,
All the gory events right in front of your eyes.

Yes we'll sing a nice song about those terrible Greeks,
And hope you don't mind, that your stomachs aren't weak.
You'll deal with the violence, you'll deal with the gore,
At the end of the show you'll be yelling for more.
We'll sing a nice song about those terrible Greeks,
And hope you don't mind, but we've been trying for weeks,
To think of a nice way of telling our tale,
But the Greeks were disgusting, and so we have failed.
Yes the Greeks were disgusting, so here is our tale.
